YANKS HIT KEY TO NAZI LINE IN FRANCE

Meandering
Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

It seems like old Fayette County just can't keep out of the spotlight for long. This time it's Sgt. Walter Writsel. His picture is in the July 10 number of Life Magazine as one of the ground crew for the big super-bombers which have twice bombed Japan.

Sgt. Writsel, graduated from the high school at Madison Mills where his family lived for many years and is well known, just before the outbreak of the war. He started out working in Columbus as a carpenter, but he laid down his tools and entered the Army Air Forces in April of 1942. He has been overseas since March of this year and is now stationed in China.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Writsel now live near Derby. One brother, Milo, is in France with the Allied invasion forces; another, Albert, has just registered for the draft and expects to be in uniform before long, and a third, Alvin, is working on the farm to produce food for the fighting forces, which also include a brother-in-law. Six sisters complete the family.

Newspaper work has its headaches just like any other enterprise. But, every once in a while, something turns up to add spice to the life that seems dull and monotonous so much of the time.

This time it is a brief letter from Eugene Beverly S-2C who is serving on a U. S. submarine. He wrote: "I have been receiving the Record-Herald and have enjoyed it immensely, although they are two or three months old, but that is because I have a change of address. . . Give my regards to W. C. H."

Of course, the Record-Herald is sent to men in the service all over the world. But, so far as I know, this is the only one that goes under the sea. And, it's always refreshing to learn that the results of the daily grind are enjoyed even if two or three months old. That gives the feeling of really helping in the war by doing something for the boys who face death and do the fighting.

There's a very tiny little girl in Washington C. H. whose name and picture appear on a big transport plane that took part in D-day invasion of France, and a letter from her daddy, radio technician with the 9th Air Force, says he believes his little girl's name and picture on the plane took the big craft safely through the hall of death on D-day.

The little girl is 18-months-old Kathie Lynn Rooks, daughter of T-Sgt. and Mrs. William Rooks, of West Elm Street, and the plane was christened "Kathie Lynn" a few days before the invasion started in France.

The plane crew unanimously adopted Kathie Lynn's picture as their "pin-up girl" and assisted in naming the plane after the baby.

Bill, who is radio technician aboard the craft has been in England for six months, and in the service nearly two years.

He studied at Sioux Falls, S. D. and then at Fort Bragg, N. C., before being sent across where there is plenty of work to do, and his plane helped carry paratroopers and supplies across the channel.

Mrs. Rooks received a letter Friday that was written by her husband June 19, in which he said the going was tough the first few days, but is better now, and that he hopes to be home real soon.

Town Freed By Allies

Reds Surging Toward Germany

Russia's Red army, battering almost against the very gates of Prussia, the home of the German warlords, today posed a grave threat to the Nazi scourge of conquest throughout Europe, while Allied forces, spearheaded by an American drive toward the port of Leghorn, increased pressure from the south and the invasion offensive gained momentum in Normandy and swarms of Allied planes blasted strategic targets throughout Naziland.

The Moscow communique said the Germans suffered "tremendous losses" in a general Russian forward surge all the way from the Latvian border to the middle of the Pripyat marshes, some 400 miles southward.

Yanks Find Going Tough in Italy but Keep Battering Nazis Back on Road To Port of Leghorn - Allied Warplanes Defy Bad Weather To Swarm Over Europe To Blast Supply Lines and Nazi Troop Concentrations in Normandy

Southward in old Poland, other army groups beat toward the rail center of Bialystok and directly menaced Pinsk. The Germans reported a massive new Soviet offensive in Romania north of the rail center of Iasi—a drive threatening the Galati gap and the Ploesti oil fields, already extensively ruined by American bombs.

The Moscow communique said the Germans suffered "tremendous losses" in a general Russian forward surge all the way from the Latvian border to the middle of the Pripyat marshes, some 400 miles southward.

Sudden Attack HURLED AGAINST MAIN DEFENSES

Pulverizing Barrage Blasts Path for Doughboys—Mud Slows British Drive

By WES GALLAGHER
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 11.—(P)—American troops bursting forward in a new offensive slugged today to a point within two miles of St. Lo junction—batteries of central Normandy, and ripped through Nazi defenses in two sectors farther west on their flaming 40-mile front.

In eastern Normandy, British-Canadian forces struck ahead a mile across the Orne River east of Caen against the Germans making a fierce stand in the suburb of Vaucelles, and occupied the west bank of the Orne on a four-mile stretch from Caen's outskirts.

U. S. troops and tanks, advancing under a pulverizing artillery barrage, gained from two to three miles in the drive on St. Lo, and other Doughboys farther north-west also pounded forward, seizing four towns in a few hours.

One of these columns striking south from Caen captured La Muerie and La Roserie four miles from Periers, and another hitting west from the Vire River seized Haut Verney and Le Mesnilangot three miles beyond fallen St. Jean de Daye.

Coordinated Assault

These two blows were coordinated with the new offensive against St. Lo, jumping off at dawn and closing on the town from two directions. The Doughboys pushed to within two miles of St. Lo against heavy resistance by crack parachute troops and SS forces.

British troops in their first advance from positions east of the Orne in several weeks drove south a mile, and occupied Colombelles, on the outskirts of the suburb of Vaucelles.

Canadians in a fast mop-up of their sector reached the Orne's west bank from Caen to a point just north of Maltot, four miles southwest of Caen, where the British were engaged in heavy fighting. German resistance was stiffening in the Caen sector.

Troops of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American First Army driving on St. Lo reached the outskirts of Luzerne and Mesnil.

Invasion Of Guam Is in Offing As Softening Up Blows Loosed

(By the Associated Press)
Guam, pre-war U. S. Pacific naval base captured by the Japanese four days after the Pearl Harbor attack, and other major links in the Marianas Island chain, are plainly marked for American invasion or neutralization.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced light cruisers and destroyers shelled Guam Saturday and carrier-based planes swept in the next day to blast shore installations on Guam and Rota, less than 150 miles south of newly-conquered Saipan.

Tokyo radio announced "a very powerful enemy fleet consisting of two aircraft carriers and more than 30 cruisers and destroyers are plying the waters of north-west of Tinian Island," within artillery range of Saipan.

Guam, Ninian and Rota were raided yesterday (Monday), the broadcast said, and American raids are increasing in intensity.

While mop-up squads continue to liquidate isolated enemy pockets of resistance on Saipan, planes from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command swept in on Japan's bases in the Carolines, Truk, Woleai, Yap and Palau were hit.

The only sizeable Japanese counteraction in the Pacific was a six-plane raid on Yank-heid Noemfoor Island off Dutch New Guinea. A fuel dump was hit but no casualties were reported.

Chinese Press Drive

On the China front, Japan's big bases at Tengchung and Lung-ling in Yunnan Province were menaced by China's army while other Chinese troops launched what is probably a diversionary offensive in southern Hupheh Province to choke off reinforcements headed for Japanese forces besieging Hengyang on the Canton-Hankow railroad.

In Burma, organized Japanese resistance ceased at Ukhrul, advance base in northeastern India used to cover the enemy retreat from the ill-fated Indian invasion.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR 66 ENTOMBED MINERS

Contact Fails as New Shafts Are Sunk

BELLAIRE, O., July 11.—(P)—Rescue crews tried to contact 66 men entombed at nearby Powhatan mine through a new shaft early today, but only an eerie silence greeted their shouts into the pit and they virtually abandoned all hope the coal miners still were alive.

Final desperate efforts to get a response from the tunnel where the miners were trapped by fire last Wednesday were being made today before giving up the imprisoned men for dead.

A drill three inches in diameter broke through last night from the top of Carpenter's Hill to the mine corridor where the men were cut off, but for a second time no response came from below.

A nine-inch shaft was sunk through 400 feet of earth at another place yesterday. Then, too, the work crew heard only the echo of their own voices when they called into the mine.

DeGaulle Acceptable As 'De Facto Authority'

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—President Roosevelt announced today that he is accepting the French National Committee headed by General Charles de Gaulle as the authority for civil administration of liberated France.

Mr. Roosevelt's new attitude toward the committee, the chief executive made clear at his news conference, results from the talks which he had last Thursday, Friday and Saturday with de Gaulle. There is no change, the president said, in the policy of this government in not recognizing the French committee as a provisional government.

In its capacity of "de facto authority, the committee will be under the general supervision of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied supreme commander. Eisenhower will have the decision on when a city or town or department can be released from military administration and turned over to the committee.

The president used the term "de facto authority" in describing the committee's role pending the time that the French people have an opportunity to choose a government for themselves.

SLAYING CONFESSED BY SEX DEGENERATE

SEATTLE, July 11.—(P)—A 31-year-old shipyard worker, his arms and wrists slashed, was under guard in a hospital today after he confessed, officers said, to the sex-motivated slaying of a pretty, 14-year-old school girl neighbor in her bedroom.

The girl, Harriett Louise Lindstrom was gagged with a rayon blouse, stabbed through the mouth and beaten about the head with an iron stove shaker. She was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lindstrom, who moved here recently from Miami, Fla. The father is a Boeing aircraft worker.

POLICE COMB STATE FOR MISSING CO-ED

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—(P)—State and local police are searching for Barbara Sellers, 20-year-old Temple University co-ed who disappeared from her home in nearby Boylston Sunday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sellers, the girl left home on her bicycle which was found later, with a book she was carrying, near a Lansdale cemetery. She was dressed in a playsuit halter and blue denim slacks.

Police were told she was seen near the cemetery with a young man, they checked the home of a former classmate of Barbara's and learned, they said, he had not been home for 24 hours.

WILLKIE PLATFORM GETS NO ATTENTION

NEW YORK, July 11.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie sent a draft of a proposed platform to the recent Republican National Convention but his views—which differ from those in the adopted platform—were not submitted to the delegates.

The 1940 Republican presidential nominee, who last night made public the text of the document, said his representatives in Chicago were unable to offer his proposals due to the speed with which the convention disposed of the platform.

Willkie's suggestion differed from the convention platform on foreign policy, states' rights, tariffs, taxes, labor, the racial problem and other planks.

U. S. SUB LOST ON MANEUVERS

No Survivors of Crew of 60 Men and Officers

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—Loss of the 20-year-old submarine S-28 during training exercises in the Pacific was announced by the navy today.

The sub carried a complement of about 60 men and was under command of Lieut. Commander Jack C. Campbell, 29, whose wife, Mrs. Jean Brooks Campbell, lives in Groton, Conn.

The navy did not disclose where the S-28 was lost.

"The depth of water makes it impossible to salvage the submarine, and hope has been abandoned for the recovery of the missing personnel," the navy said.

It added that an investigation is being made to determine cause of the accident.

"There were no survivors," the navy said.

FDR Will Accept Fourth Term But Says He Won't Run

Chief Executive Gives Answer To Big Political Question at Press Conference by Reading His Letter To Democratic Chairman - Says He Would Rather Retire

By HOWARD FLIEGER
WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—President Roosevelt declared today he will "reluctantly, but as a good soldier" accept renomination by the Democratic National Convention and serve another four years in the White House if elected.

In a letter to Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, Mr. Roosevelt said he personally wanted to retire and avoid public responsibilities and the publicity that "follows every step" of the President.

"But if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war," he added, "I have as little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line."

The President's letter was made public at a White House news conference which grew tense with expectancy when Mr. Roosevelt told 99 reporters gathered in his oval office that the doors had been locked. A reporter said that must mean something important was coming.

Another reporter raised the familiar fourth-term question and, grinning, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that this time the big news was coming.

He then read his exchange of letters with Hannegan. Hannegan wrote the President in a letter dated July 10 that enough delegates to the party convention starting a week from tomorrow are committed to his renomination to assure it.

"If the convention should carry this out, and nominate me for the presidency, I shall accept," Mr. Roosevelt said.

MORE AMMUNITION FOR ARTILLERY IS ORDERED BY ARMY

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—The War Department stepped up its heavy artillery ammunition program today for heavy new blows against a German military machine reported by the Foreign Economic Administration to be obtaining its raw materials on "a bare hand-to-mouth basis."

Brig. Gen. R. E. Hardy, chief of the Ordnance Department's ammunition division, said the several hundred percent expansion included approximately $100,000,000 worth of additional machine tools, presses and furnaces alone.

He attributed the increase to unprecedented demands from the combat zones, asserting the 5th army in May used 64,750,000 pounds of heavy artillery ammunition against the Gustav line before Cassino.

Meanwhile, the Foreign Economic Administration reported Germany's war economy has deteriorated under combined Allied attacks that she faces "substantial certainty of defeat in 1945 if not in 1944."

BUZZ BOMBS RETURN AFTER NIGHT LET-UP

Believed Nazis Sending Them From Farther East

By JAMES F. KING
LONDON, July 11.—(P)—Flying bombs started slamming down on London and southern England today after the capital's first free night from the German terror weapon in almost a month. The attacks were below the peak of previous assaults.

An alert was sounded in London during the night, but it did not bother the blitz-hardened residents a great deal. They experienced great relief, however, through the absence of the terrifying "buzz" which makes every flying bomb anywhere near sound as if it were coming in the bedroom window.

Observation of coastal watchers evoked conjecture that the Germans were using emplacements farther east along the coast, possibly because of the Allies' smashing bombardments of the Pas de Calais area.

During yesterday the rocket bombardment also was on a diminished scale.

CONFERENCE ALL SET FOR GOP GOVERNORS

Dewey Says Meeting Will Be In St Louis August 2-3

By CHARLES H. PALMER
ALBANY, N. Y., July 11.—(P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee for president, will join with 25 other GOP governors at St. Louis August 2 and 3 in a conference he said today would deal with the "area of responsibility and obligation as between the states and the federal government and how these obligations to the people can best be performed."

Dewey said at a press conference that "every single Republican governor has indicated his great pleasure in coming and says he expects to be there."

In outlining the purpose of the St. Louis meeting, the governor declared:

"There has been continuing debate, ever since the New Deal took office, over the area of responsibilities as between the states and the federal government."

"That discussion has covered topics such as employment services, the aids to agriculture, particularly centering around the use of land grant colleges; the responsibilities for relief, the effort three years ago to federalize unemployment insurance entirely, and, of course, the very large field of taxation in general."

LIFE AS HOUSEKEEPER ENDS FOR FUGITIVE

Ohioan Goes Back To Prison After 9-year Freedom

SEATTLE, July 11.—(P)—A fugitive who said he hid his criminal record from his wife and to avoid detection stayed at home as housekeeper while the spouse worked in war plants today was ordered returned to the Ohio State Reformatory from which he escaped nine years ago.

Superior Judge Chester A. Batchelor ruled that John Wilson Kuglar, 31, should be surrendered to two officers who came here to return him to the prison at Mansfield, Ohio.

Kuglar, father of a four-month-old child, had gone to court in an effort to avoid extradition to Ohio, where reformatory officials said he was sentenced from Akron for 10 to 25 years for robbery.

Kuglar said he had served all but eight months of his sentence when he escaped.

Crop Reports Ease Shortage Fears As Livestock Cut Seems Certain

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—Government food officials who have been harried for months by the spectre of a critical livestock feed and grain shortage rested easier today.

An agriculture department report indicated that, given favorable weather during the next six weeks, the nation will have sufficient food to carry it through until the 1945 growing season arrives.

A record wheat crop of 1,127,822,000 bushels and a very large corn crop of 2,980,236,000 bushels were forecast. These grains will be supplemented by fairly good crops of other livestock grains such as oats and barley and by a near record crop of hay.

Reflecting fears of a feed shortage, farmers have indicated they would produce only 87,925,000 pigs this year—a reduction of 33,771,000 from the previous year. They may raise their goals and produce a somewhat larger fall pig crop than previously indicated.

War Food Administration officials said the indicated feed supply would be sufficient to supply a pig crop of 91,000,000 or 92,000,000 head in addition to the indicated numbers of dairy cows, beef cattle, poultry and other livestock.

MRS. COFFMAN DIES AT HOME HERE TUESDAY

Funeral Arrangements for Retired Teacher Not Yet Completed

Mrs. Haidee Van Winkle Coffman died at her home on South Sycamore Street at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

She had been in failing health for a little more than a year, but her family and friends said she appeared to be much better in recent weeks. Then, with unexpected suddenness, she was stricken with apoplexy about noon last Saturday while getting groceries at the Fogle Store just around the corner on South North Street. She was taken to her home in the Klever ambulance and her physician, Dr. Paul Craig, made no attempt to minimize the seriousness of her condition.

From then until the end came Tuesday morning, her family and friends feared the worst.

Mrs. Coffman was born at New Market in Highland County where she attended the elementary schools.

Later she attended Hillsboro College, which since has passed out of existence, and after her graduation there took post-graduate work at Wilmington College and the University of Chicago.

She started teaching school near her old home in Highland County and that was the beginning of a career that lasted for more than half a century and was marked by unusual success.

She came to Washington C. H. in 1894 and taught history and English in the high school here for 47 years before she retired six years ago.

She had a part in the education of hundreds of men and women in the middle generations in Washington C. H. and Fayette County and to nearly all of them she was affectionately known always as "Aunt Haidee".

She continued to teach for several years after her marriage to H. G. Coffman because, as she often said, teaching was her life's work and she had the interest of young men and women at heart.

After her retirement, she took an active interest in Republican politics, and for several years headed the party's women's organization.

Her advent into politics was on behalf of her cousin, Rep. Clarence J. Brown, who represents this district in the national congress. She then not only had been one of his staunchest supporters but also had moved into leadership of the broader women's activities of the party here.

She is survived by her husband and a sister, Miss Grace Van Winkle, who also has devoted much of her life to teaching. She has been living here in recent years. Her only brother, D. H. Van Winkle, died several years ago. Ervin Van Winkle, her only blood nephew, left his home in Kokomo, Ind., to come to Washington C. H. immediately after learning of his aunt's death, and Miss Jane Ann Van Winkle, her only niece, who spends the winters in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., was at the home of her mother, Mrs. Walter Evans.

Arrangements for the funeral, in charge of the Klever Funeral Home, have not yet been completed.

CLEVELAND DROUGHT IS GETTING SERIOUS

Water Conservation Ordered To Keep Industry Going

CLEVELAND, July 11.—(P)—As Cleveland's drought entered its 18th day, Mayor Frank J. Lausche called a meeting of city and Cuyahoga County officials in an effort to stop all greater Cleveland householders from sprinkling.

The mayor said he would urge the group to declare an emergency, see that one warning was given and if sprinkling continued the water would be shut off at the house meter.

A spokesman for the Fisher Aircraft plant near Cleveland Airport, which manufactures major assemblies for B-29 superfortresses and complete new-type fighter planes, said all production would be halted if the inadequate water supply continued.

She is survived by her husband and a sister, Miss Grace Van Winkle, who also has devoted much of her life to teaching. She has been living here in recent years. Her only brother, D. H. Van Winkle, died several years ago. Ervin Van Winkle, her only blood nephew, left his home in Kokomo, Ind., to come to Washington C. MRS. MARY F. ALLEN CLAIMED BY DEATH

Octa Woman Dies at Home Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Mary Frances Allen, 83, died at her home near Octa Monday at 4 P. M., a home where she had lived all her married life. She is the widow of Lincoln Allen, who died in 1936.

A member of the Methodist Church at Octa, she leaves two sons, Harry Allen of Milledgeville and Oscar B. Allen at home; one daughter, Mrs. Grace Hauser of Jamestown; one sister, Mrs. Martha Watts of Lima; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Thursday at 2:30 P. M. at the residence. Burial will be in the Milledgeville Cemetery under the direction of the Klever Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the late residence at any time.

Roosevelt wrote Hannegan, "If the people elect me, I will serve." The President said he would prefer to retire but "I will accept and serve in this office if I am so ordered by the commander-in-chief of us all—the sovereign people of the United States."

The President sprang the news of his political intentions on a news conference this morning when a reporter asked him if he had anything to say about the convention.

Grimacing, the President replied that the reporter was only guessing—and said this time he was right.

With the President certain to be the Democratic choice for re-nomination this year, the state of his health undoubtedly will play a role in the campaign.

About a month ago Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the President's personal physician, told newsmen, Mr. Roosevelt is in excellent health. He described him as being in better shape than the average man of his age—62 years.

During the winter Mr. Roosevelt suffered from colds, influenza, sinus infections and a bronchial disorder, but McIntire said his rest in the south and a subsequent take-it-easy office schedule has erased all signs of these ailments.

He said the President is as well now as he was a year ago and observed that a year ago he was in good shape.

Mr. Roosevelt appeared in excellent spirits as the reporters filed into his office this morning for the momentous statement they didn't know they were going to get.

The President said he would not "run" for reelection in the accepted political sense, "but if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war, I have a little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line."

With that statement the President was referring to his war-time role of commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

"For myself, I do not want to run," Mr. Roosevelt said. "By next spring I shall have been president and commander-in-chief of the armed forces for 12 years—three times elected by the people of this country under the American constitutional system."

"From the personal point of view, I believe that our economic system is on a sounder, more human basis than it was at the time of my first inauguration."

"After many years of public service, therefore, my personal thoughts have turned to the day when I could return to civil life. All that is within me cries out to go back to my home on the Hudson River, to avoid public responsibilities, and to avoid also the publicity which in our democracy follows every step of the nation's chief executive."

In Albany, N. Y., Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican Presidential nominee, had no comment on Mr. Roosevelt's statement.

Mr. Roosevelt made no mention of the second place on the ticket and the status of Vice President Wallace remained unclarified.

Wallace told reporters last night after a two-hour conference with the President, that their conversation dealt solely with China, from where the vice president has just returned.

A reporter asked if "you mean that the 1944 political situation was not mentioned?"

"That is right," Wallace replied. Smiling, he told the reporters how to get out of his office and a scramble started toward the doors.

Mr. Roosevelt, wearing a white shirt with a black bow tie and seersucker trousers, held his Han-negan correspondence on his desk before him as he read. He went through the sentences in slow deliberate words but once interrupted himself with a grin to say he had to have a "cigarette"—and observed it was too bad he didn't have a Murad, obviously referring to that cigarette's advertising slogan of nonchalance.

Mr. Roosevelt stated in his letter to Hannegan that winning the war is the number one objective of this nation. Close behind it, he said, is determination for a victory that future world wars will be impossible. Third and final goal, he said, is to provide jobs and a decent standard of living for returning war veterans.

Wendell L. Willkie, unsuccessful Republican candidate for president against Mr. Roosevelt in 1940: "Is that news?"

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York: "I am very happy to hear it, but frankly, I can not pretend to be surprised and that goes for the nomination, too."

YANKS ATTACKING KEY TO NAZI LINES IN FRANCE AS MUD SLOWS BRITISH

Roxelin, just north of the city.

The attack was coordinated from the north and northeast of St. Lo. Fall of that city of 15,000 would force a German withdrawal from the remainder of the Cherbourg Peninsula, and Nazi lines were under steady, heavy pressure along a front curving 40 miles to the sea.

Pulverizing Barrage
The attack opened after hundreds of field guns bellowed steadily for hours, wrecking German hedgehog positions and numbing the nerves of even some of the most fanatical Nazis holding the line.

Other doughboys advanced one to two miles elsewhere on the front winding across Cherbourg Peninsula, making flank penetrations threatening to force a German withdrawal southward along the peninsula's west coast.

(The German radio asserted that German troops had reentered La Haye Du Puits, strategic road center captured by the American first Army Sunday.)

Front Line Report
Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent, wrote: "I have just returned from a visit to forward units and early reports were that our troops were making slow but steady progress toward objectives north and east of St. Lo, center of an important network of roads, and one of the strongest German points on the entire front."

"Gray, threatening skies prevented close support by dive bombers."

"The GIs came out of the soggy foxholes at 6 A. M. After their artillery had sprayed the Germans with a terrific barrage which still was crashing at noon."

"In almost two years of war I never have heard such a steady blasting of big guns."

"It seemed that there were guns in every field. I tried to count reports of 105-millimeter pieces and 155-M long toms during a 60-second period but gave up at the count of 70 because the crashes were blending together in an unearthly cacophony."

"Armor went in to support the infantry and 'hose' hedgehogs with machine-gun bullets, looking for German snipers."

British Drive Slowed
Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander in France, declared 54,000 prisoners have been taken since D-Day, and told his American-British-Canadian forces that much has been achieved "with definite and concrete gains."

"We are firm and secure," he asserted.

Bad weather and strengthening German resistance slowed the British second army assault in the Caen sector, and heavy fighting flamed south of the Odon and Orne rivers. The Germans forced the British to withdraw to the north of Maltot, a town four miles southwest of Caen.

A costly price still was being exacted of the enemy, and a British headquarters officer estimated 30 to 35 Nazi tanks had been knocked out on the front south-west of Caen.

The German position west of the Orne appeared hopeless in the long run, but the fanatical Nazi opposition against the drive of both the British and the Canadians was forcing the fighting line back temporarily in some spots and limiting progress to a few hundred yards in others.

Part of the loss of power of Montgomery's punch was caused by bad weather, which made it impossible for the Allied Air Force to put in strong, close support.

Canadian troops cleared all the Germans from the north bank of the Odon River down to its junction with the Orne. The British clung fiercely to Hill 112, just north of Esquay, which controls land observation between the two rivers.

Germans Chopped Up
"Waves of German infantry were chopped to ribbons in a violent battle" for this hill, wrote Associated Press correspondent, Roger D. Greene, in a front dispatch. He quoted a British field officer as saying, "the Boche was slaughtered while we were sitting where we were."

This sturdy stand forced the Germans to retreat from the hill area.

British armored cars pushed down to the west bank of the Orne at Athia, a tiny hamlet between Maltot and Caen, but withdrew later.

Although Maltot was lost temporarily, British Tommies clung to Etreville and Canadians cleared the Germans from Louvigny, in the loop between the Orne and the Odon rivers.

First signs that Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel was being forced into a general withdrawal in the Cherbourg Peninsula came when Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's columns pushing south from Carantan and down the west bank of the Vire River threatened German flank positions.

Another Yank Drive
South of Carantan the Americans drove within four miles of Periers, key road junction leading to the La Haye Du Puits front. The doughboys drove about a mile south of Sainteny, making good progress on the west side of the road where they captured La Forges, just south of Sainteny.

In expanding this sector the Americans also captured Graignes, four and one-half miles southwest of Carantan.

Similar progress was registered by Americans smashing west from the Vire and south along both banks of the river.

The Americans captured and pushed south of Point Hebert, four miles northwest of St. Lo. East of the river they captured La Meauffe, four miles north of the same city. These advances represented gains of more than a mile and one-half in the past 24 hours.

Capture of Graignes practically merged the Vire River fighting with that south of Carantan.

The combined pressure from these two driver appeared to be forcing the Germans in the Cherbourg Peninsula sector into a withdrawal southward.

This was borne out by the fact that the Americans, who have been encountering an unceasing series of counter-attacks in the La Haye Du Puits Area, launched a stiff attack at 10 A. M. yesterday and reported that suddenly at noon German resistance ceased.

There were indications that the Germans now are fighting only rearguard actions while they withdraw southward.

Supreme Headquarters had no naval activity to report.

The incessant bad weather over Normandy showed no signs of letting up this morning.

33 POLIO CASES IN OHIO NOW—NO ALARM SIGNAL

COLUMBUS, O., July 11.—(P)—Infantile paralysis cases are mounting in Ohio, but there is no cause for alarm, Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, asserted today.

Reporting the annual seasonal upswing in paralysis cases had begun, the health director declared the increase was not alarming because "the number of cases reported this year is comparable to those at the start of the season in previous years."

FARLEY LEAVES HIS LAST DEMOCRAT JOB

NEW YORK, July 11.—(P)—James A. Farley, "Smiling Big Jim," bows out today as Democratic state chairman, his last of many official party positions during 35 years in politics.

The 56-year-old Farley, who opposed a third term for President Roosevelt after directing the campaigns that won his first years in the White House, kept to himself his future role in American politics.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, 47, Buffalo businessman who National Committeeman Edward J. Flynn termed "100 per cent for Roosevelt," was slated to succeed Farley in the post he held for 14 years.

Philippine Faith

"Hope deferred maketh the heart sick, but the desire, when it cometh, is a tree of life." And if the much-enduring Filipinos, penned in as they are by the Japanese, are aware of what is going on in the outer world, they must be rejoicing because the United States has kept its word to them, and their complete liberation before long is certain. The President recently signed the congressional act, to be effective as soon as possible after we have driven out the invaders. Presumably that will be sooner than July 4, 1946, the date originally set for independence.

Thus will end a historical chapter at the same time tragic and generous. We shall have more than made good our promises, and we shall have set an example to the world in the realm of international affairs. It is something which land-grabbing powers would never be able to understand, but it is in line with the humanity and progress really operating in this suffering world, in spite of all the cruelties and stupidities.

The Man of Words

Harper's Magazine, way back in March, published an article called "Wendell Willkie, Man of Words", in which Fred Rodell tried to prove that Willkie had talked his way up in life and had nothing to offer but words. Mr. Willkie objected to a few statements, and there were some letters back and forth. Willkie-admirers got mad, and Willkie-dislikers were pleased. But the basic implication seems to have escaped most of the controversialists.

Granted that Willkie is a man of words, and not of executive directing power, are not words important? The writers of the Bible were men of words. Shakespeare was a man of words. So was Socrates. So have been all the great teachers of the world.

A serious mistake of democracies, and especially of our own, is to believe that if a man is good at one thing he's good at something else. But Beethoven would have been a poor fish trying to write the plays of Shakespeare. Ability is not always translatable into strange fields.

If Willkie is only a man of words, he's a good one, with the interests of his nation at heart. Why not keep him at his word job? He might inspire in Americans a stronger sense of their duties and their power to fulfil them.

These Rising Taxes

It is annoying to have to pay so many taxes, big and little, all the time. The five-dollar automobile tax has been recently one of the outstanding plagues. People have a tendency either to forget it, or to begrudge it because it seems an unnecessary nuisance. And when they add all the new-fangled taxes to the familiar ones, they just naturally start growling and kicking the government around.

But it doesn't do any good. Or at least, not much. People might as well understand, and reconcile themselves to the fact, that this nation has entered a period of rising and spreading taxation, visible and invisible, which makes trivial, in comparison, the famous taxes that once started a revolutionary war in this country. And the taxes will be paid, no matter how much we begrudge them. For they are mostly connect-

The only legitimate kicking from the contributors is based on these two principles. War Progress

Experts are pointing out that the Germans have now lost the initiative on three war fronts—in Russia, France and Italy—as a result of the superior power and military skill of the Allied Nations. Those are the big fronts in Europe. The most important one left is the Nazi home front, which will be strongly assailed by the Allies before the year is ended.

Then the initiative, as you might say, will give way to the referendum, with all the power of the forces of righteousness behind it. And the decent people of the world will give their verdict.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINETT

WASHINGTON—Armed with a brand-new "weapon," not at all secret, the Office of Price Administration is ready to crack down hard on ration coupon counterfeiters.

The new weapon is money—$50,000 just appropriated by Congress—and Thomas I. Emerson, OPA's enforcement chief, says it can smash the wide-spread counterfeiting racket.

The $50,000 is to be used to purchase evidence, or to put it the way OPA prefers, "to purchase commodities for use as evidence."

In laying a trap for counterfeiters of gasoline coupons, for example, an OPA agent or a "planted" confederate can buy up a batch of illicit stamps, spring a quick arrest of the salesman, and then use the coupons as evidence in a court action. The money paid, marked to identify it, also becomes evidence.

In the same way, the trap can be sprung on peddlers of stolen bona fide coupons.

Until now, OPA has had no funds for use in this way and Emerson says that lack of them was OPA's No. 1 handicap in attempting to snare counterfeiters.

In one case on the west coast, OPA agents made up a pool of $500 from their own pockets to lure the racketeers. It worked, and a sizeable ring was uncovered. The agents got their money back, but had to wait until the end of the court trial.

That incident and similar ones demonstrate, Emerson says, that $50,000 can make it mighty unpleasant for coupon racketeers.

"I am confident we can lick the counterfeiting racket, now that we have this appropriation," he asserts.

The beauty of the scheme is that most of the money will come back to the government following its use in court. There will be some slips, OPA acknowledges, but it is counting on recovering most of the marked bills. In effect, it will be a kind of "revolving fund."

Emphasis in the new program will be on wiping out theft and counterfeiting of gasoline coupons, which together are resulting in the loss of about 2,500,000 gallons of gasoline daily to the black market.

But the new fund will be used in other enforcement programs as well. Price panel representatives, having repeatedly warned a merchant against price ceiling violations, will refer such cases to OPA investigators. There again OPA agents will use their new weapon to "purchase commodities for use as evidence."

The Strains of War

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

IT SHOULD be no surprise to anyone who has thought about it at all that the stresses of war have created many mental invalids. Men's minds, like their bodies, are built on different levels of resistance to strain.

One man will go along quite efficiently on a job that requires little responsibility or initiative and as long as economic conditions are prosperous he will never show that he has inside him the seeds of mental deterioration, alcoholism or complete madness.

Most men lead lives of quiet desperation, but so long as the depression is quiet we never notice them. When something makes it active society has to take notice.

War is certainly the supreme example of such an activator. We are seeing in medical practice plenty of examples of the result and it is not pessimism, but simply a realistic conclusion that one of the great post-war problems will be the mental incapacity of a large group of our citizens, the numerical amount of which would be difficult to assess.

Report From England

From England we have a report on this by Dr. James W. Mackintosh, published by the Commonwealth Fund (The War and Mental Health in England). The British had much more stress than we—air raids, life in shelters, evacuation of children and separation from parents. The report makes no estimate of the exact number of mental wrecks there are in England, but one gathers this is in the millions.

In the United States the causative factors have been for the young, induction into the army and the prospect of battle experience, and for the older group, change from peacetime work to war work, overwork, grief from losses of loved ones, separations, and the petty annoyances and restrictions of rationing and priorities.

THE REST OF MY LIFE WITH YOU

Capri 1943, by author

Dist. by King Features

SYNOPSIS

Mary Norman, attractive widow and successful decorator, was delighted when Judith Lambert, daughter of an old friend, dropped in to see her. Judith, whose home is in California, is en route to Maine for the summer. The families had been neighbors before Judith's father died. She asked for Mary's son, Dr. Matthew Norman, adding, "He was my first crush—but he didn't know I existed." Mary told her that Matthew plans to have his own office soon. Judith promised to stop off again on her way home in the fall. As Mary dressed for dinner with Lynn Mortimer, long her devoted friend, she indulged in a little mental matchmaking among Judith and her son. For twenty years Lynn's wife has been a mental patient and, for almost as long, he has been in love with Mary. Although they never discussed it, Mary is aware of his love but feels there is no room in her busy life for anyone except Matthew. Later, she is completely floored when her son telegraphs that he and Irene Murray, a nurse, have just been married. Mary had met Irene but never suspected Matthew's interest was other than platonic. She wires the newlyweds her congratulations but is too upset to sleep.

CHAPTER FIVE

Lying there, Mary tried to remember all she knew of Irene Murray. She had graduated from the hospital a year ago. She was, Matthew said, an excellent nurse, conscientious and intelligent. She came of substantial stock, in the West, and had had two years of college before entering training. She was small and very fair, with large sober blue eyes and a controlled red mouth. Too controlled, Mary had thought fleetingly, for a girl of her age.

She had met her several times: Matthew brought her to dinner or had come in with her after taking her somewhere to dine. She was not at all like the other girls with whom he had amused himself while in college, or at medical school... those girls, his mother remembered, had been bright as parrots, and as shrill, with flyaway hair, too much make-up, too high heels. Seductive girls, alike as two peas in a pod, some of them clinging, some over-independent, some a little stupid, and others too wise. But she hadn't worried.

Matthew had said, his jaw very like her own in masculine mold: "Don't you fret, mother, I've a long way to go yet and I'm not trying myself down... Besides, I haven't met the girl yet with whom I'd want to spend the rest of my life."

A sophisticated young man, Matthew. Perhaps it was in a measure her fault, she thought, as they had been so much together, and she had never treated him as if he were a child. But if a fault, a good one. She had had less cause for worry during his adolescence than most mothers.

Matthew had never confided in her, and she was grateful for that. She did not wish that type of confidence. She faintly despised the women she knew who told her that their sons told them "everything."

Mary was his mother, and that was enough. She held the utmost contempt for the clinging, sticky relationship between mother and son.

Mary thought: My son will be through at the hospital soon, I'll find an apartment for him and Irene near his office, and furnish it for them, taking it on a year's lease to start. Poor child, she'll be lonely, with him at the hospital so much and unable to be with her beyond one evening a week until his internship is over. I must see what I can do for her.

She thought, with a fleeting pang, of Judith. Judith who would be so right for Matthew. Lynn had teased her about the money but she was only being practical.

established in a paying practice, she could sell it, and get along on whatever it brought her, plus the income her husband's father had settled on her after his death.

But Matthew's practice, now that he was married, would have to pay more than for a single man and it might be years... besides, there were bound to be children. Matthew believed in solid, enduring marriage, and a family. His views were very fixed for a man of his age, but, as they were also her views, she was forced to agree with him.

Those other girls, Matthew's mother remembered, had been bright as parrots.

Mary made enough, of course. Her more than adequate income had become much smaller during 'twenty-nine and so she had supplemented it. She had gone to work in earnest instead of, as in prior years, half in fun, to be entertained, to find time less heavy on her hands with Matthew in college and later in medical school. Besides, she had to keep him there.

She had therefore invested much of her capital, to Lynn's horror, in a small shop that was now a big shop.

She had fully intended to see Matthew through the lean years of his beginning practice, and so there

How North Carolina Meets 'VD' Problem

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(P)—Can the problem of "VD"—venereal disease—be licked?

North Carolina, a pioneer state in "VD" control, thinks it can.

Medically, venereal disease no longer is a problem. With new drugs and new technique, once unmentionable "social diseases" often can be cured in rapid treatment centers within hours and days instead of the months and years required before.

North Carolina views these as the real problem:

How can the cases be reached, poverty, ignorance, fear and prudery being what they are? Just what plan will do for syphilis what informed public opinion has done for such diseases as tuberculosis and smallpox?

In search of the answers is the VD Educational Institute in Raleigh, a unique laboratory or idea factory where experts are at work. Control methods suggested and applied continuously are being weeded out and study steadily is advanced.

World War II has brought before the institute a shocking picture. Selective Service physical examinations for the first two million men drafted showed an average of 47.7 in every 1,000 were syphilitic. Averages in some states rank as high as 160 in 1,000.

The armed forces, federal and state governments and many municipalities have stepped up efforts to beat "VD". But unlike many other agencies the institute is not attempting a medical campaign. Instead, it aims to replace public ignorance and indifference with understanding and enlightenment.

The VD Education Institute resulted from the establishment in 1927 of a $7,000,000 memorial trust fund by the family of the late Smith Reynolds, tobacco heir. Estate income was to be used by the state for a long-range "VD" control program. U. S. Public Health Service and North Carolina state funds also go into operation of the institute, directed by Capus Waynick, a former newspaper publisher.

An aid to the program has been the success of the U. S. Public Health Service's nationwide campaign to teach the public about syphilis and gonorrhea.

In the institute's laboratory, artists, writers and specialists in VD and sex education create material which will give the average reaches far into the backwoods communities and has the trust of the people. The ministers who preach on the subject after becoming convinced of the value of "VD" control have done much to improve conditions. Also important have been Vance county high school anti-"VD" programs.

Waynick hopes that the Vance county campaigns will develop much data upon which a technique may be based to be used on a South-wide basis.

This unusual pose is of Tamara Toumanova, the renowned premier danseuse of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, whose performances have made her internationally famous. Toumanova has for the time being forsaken the dance for a Hollywood screen career. She makes her debut as one of the stars in RKO Radio's "Days of Glory," in which she is seen as one of a band of guerrillas harassing the Nazis behind their lines on the Moscow front.

Commanding the little group is a patriot played by Gregory Peck, and between these two an impassioned romance develops. In this, her first screen presentation, Toumanova does not dance—she is solely the dramatic actress!

N. L. All-Stars Count On Bucky To Win Inter-League Feature

By JACK HAND
PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(P)—All-Star baseball swings around the major league wheel to Pittsburgh for the first time tonight with Billy Southworth leaning heavily on Cincinnati's Bucky Walters and a starting lineup with a .307 batting bulge to keep the National League's three-year losing streak from becoming a habit. It's 11 to 10 in these parts that he'll succeed.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Americans is expected to call on a Yankee battery of Hank Borowy and Rolie Hensley to give the Junior Circuit its ninth victory in the 12-game series.

A sell-out crowd of nearly 40,000 is predicted with fair and cooler weather.

Last year's game, won by the Americans 5-3, was the first played entirely under the lights and the second comes at an appropriate time with the majors meeting today in joint session to enact legislation expected to provide unlimited week night play for all desiring.

The American League gave its okay to more games yesterday as it urged prompt renewal of the agreement establishing a high commissioner. The National considered both proposals and the anti-farm system plan made by General Manager Jack Zeller of Detroit but withheld announcement pending the joint session.

Probable starting lineups for All-Star game:

NEW TROTTING RECORD IS SET BY VOLO SONG

CLEVELAND, July 11.—(P)—Volo Song, last year's Hambletonian winner, today was the possessor of the world record for trotting stallions.

The four-year-old brown son of Volomite stepped the second heat of the $2,090 championship stallion stake in 1:57 1/4 at North Randall's Grand Circuit oval yesterday to shave a full second off the old mark established by Nibble Hanover at Old Orchard, Me., three seasons ago.

The E. J. Baker entry also broke North Randall's 29-year-old track record and pared four and three-quarters seconds off the mark he set for himself in last year's Hambletonian.

Driver Harry Fitzpatrick guided the Song across in 2:03 1/4 in winning the first heat and then let him go all out in the second whirl. Fitzpatrick gave the colt only one crack of the whip—on the home stretch and he left the placing Darnley a dozen lengths behind.

Central Boys Win From Rose Avenue

The Central team got revenge when they edged out the Rose Avenue boys in a Junior Softball League morning game at Wilson Field by a 9 to 8 score, but it took an extra inning to do it.

Andrews, with two for two, led the Central offense. Loose play in the field helped both teams build up their scores.

Central now leads the league with 15 wins and 3 losses. Cherry Hill and Jacob's Cubs are tied for second place. But the Rose Avenue boys have played more games than the others.

Today's Guest Star
Harvey J. Boyle, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: "One young pitcher with the Dodgers, Clyde King, late of North Carolina University, seems to be trying to salvage something out of the present decline. He carries a hangbag which carries the somewhat modest request: 'Beat Duke.' Judging from the way the poor Bums have been tottering through the west, there is a question whether they could live up to that worthy ambition."

8:30 P. M.—Wilson vs. Company D

ROOM AND BOARD

By Gene Ahern

19th Hole At Country Club

The drought-hardened fairways lending themselves to long drives and the well-kept greens lending themselves to some plain and fancy putting have resulted in some of the best scores in many a day being turned in at the caddy house at the Country Club. Here are a few of them for evidence:

Glen Roseboom 40; Charles Dunton 38; Dr. L. L. Pumphrey 41; Danny O'Brien 48; Ed Adamski 45; Howard (Dink) Dellinger 42; Frank (Red) Reno 52; Ed Hunt 45; C. F. VanZant 48; Bill Williams 48; F. E. (Bus) Hill 37; Russell Giebelhouse 45; O. D. Farquhar 39; Stanley Hagerty 37; Forest Ellis 36; John Hagerty 39; Frank Jackson 43; A. B. Murray 51; Dr. Fred D. Woodard 46; O. M. Reigel 44; Hoy Simons 44 and George Severs 51.

Scrubblings from the notebook of Tony Capuana, the club pro:

Frank Brown was unable to play Sunday because of a toothache.

O. M. Reigel and C. R. VanZant, Leslie Camp and Roy McKinley played a match at Xenia and they played here again Sunday and again they tied.

Judge and Mrs. Otis Core and John Sands are catching up on their golf.

M. J. Williams and F. R. Woodard were guests of Dr. Woodard. Ben F. Norris shot a 42 the first time he played after a seven year lay-off.

Mrs. P. J. Burke is playing golf for the first time in 11 years. She had Mrs. E. Smith as a guest.

George Severs is spotting a new putter.

F. E. Hill had his best score, a 37, on the course here Sunday. He once shot a 36 at Dayton.

Among the new golfers are Frank Reno, Howard Dellinger, Joseph Cross and Mrs. Dwight Coffman.

Dellinger and Hap Weatherly have new golf shoes.

George Baker of Washington D. C. played with his brother Frank Baker. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Baker.

Ed Higgins and L. W. Turner went to Chillicothe Country Club for a game of golf. They were guests of Joe Asteron.

One of the hottest foursomes out during the week end was made up of Glenn Speaks, Dellinger, Weatherly and Reno.

A. B. Murray is using red golf balls—must be playing a red hot game.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunton were guests at the Urbana Country Club.

Danny O'Brien hit two 270-yard drives while playing with Dr. C. G. Hayes, Dr. William Limes and Dr. Smith of Columbus.

New feminine members are Mrs. Ruth Philbrook, Mrs. Earl Gidding, Mrs. Willard Willis, Mrs. R. M. Hughey, Mrs. Virginia Jayne Lang, Mrs. J. H. Persinger, Mrs. Eva Cline and Mrs. W. H. Brown.

Mrs. O. W. Reigel had a birdie on the No. 8 hole, 146 yards long. She sank an approach from the edge of the green. It was the first time she ever did that.

Hosts for the Men's Night Supper Thursday are Dr. O. W. House, Jean Nisley, Earl McCoy and Tony Capuana.

John Sands has a special shaft in his driver to give more distance.

Hopes Fading For Red Birds

(By the Associated Press)

Even hapless Indianapolis is lending a helping hand to the front-running Milwaukee Brewers, who are having things pretty much their own way in the American Association race.

Last night the last-place Tribe fashioned its first victory of the season over Columbus 16-6, to dump the second-spot Red Birds seven games behind the Brewers, who neatly disposed of Minneapolis, 3-1.

Columbus' defeat further sharpened the scrap for the No. 2 position as third-place Louisville spanked Toledo, 10-7, to climb within five percentage points of the Red Birds.

A scheduled double-header between St. Paul and the Blues at Kansas City was postponed because of rain.

Wilson Team Beats Eagles To Hold Lead

The Wilson softball team took a firmer grip on the top of the City Softball League by beating the Eagles, their closest rivals, 10 to 4, Monday night at Wilson Field in the second game of the double feature after the API crew had been given some easy moments and plenty of tough competition by the tailend Lions before they eked out a 3 to 2 victory.

Pitchers' Battle
The API played just a little tighter ball in the field than the Lions and that may be credited with giving them the edge in one of the hottest pitchers' battles staged in the loop this season. Chase of the API and Hynes of the Lions bore down with everything they had and came out with honors just about even as each gave up only three hits. Chase fanned nine Lions and that eased some of the strain.

League Leaders Win
In the nightcap, the Wilsonians set in on the Eagles early and piled up a 10 to 4 victory more because of a determined offense than a tight defense, although they made only two misplays as compared to five by the Eagles.

Wilson, pitching for the Hard-waremen, gave up only seven hits, but one of them was a three-run homer by Hoskins. One of the runs was not counted, however, because a runner was ruled to have failed to touch a base.

Reno, of the Wilson team, with three sound hits in as many trips to the plate, led the Wilson offense.

MOVIE STAR IS TO WED MAN FROM CIRCLEVILLE

HOLLYWOOD, July 11.—(P)—Motion picture star Gail Patrick will be married today to Lt. Arnold Dean White, USN, of Circleville, Ohio, she announced yesterday.

Miss Patrick's representative, Helen Ferguson, said the romance began last May when the couple met in New York. They will be married in Jacksonville, Fla., where the actress is on a bond selling tour. She was divorced in 1940 from Bob Cobb, Hollywood cafe owner.

CHANCE FOR YOUNGSTERS TO HELP WAR EFFORT

COLUMBUS, O., July 11.—(P)—Ohio youngsters will have an opportunity this fall to help America's fighting men by collecting milkweed pods, Elmer F. Kruse, chairman of the U. S. Agricultural Department's state war board, said yesterday.

Milkweed floss, 1,500,000 pounds of it is needed to replace kapok a buoyant vegetable fiber, in life jackets.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY
CHICAGO, July 11.—AP—A high government crop forecast, including predictions of an all-time record wheat harvest, unsettled grain futures today. Declines were not as great as expected, however, and most prices rallied at times under short-covering.

Rye and barley showed more strength than other grains. A rye crop was forecast less than had been predicted a month ago.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 lower, July 11.50, oats were 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, July 77 1/2, rye rallied rather sharply to finish 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, July 11.45, and barley was 1/2 to 1 cent up, July 12.75.

CLASS OF 1914 PLANS REUNION HERE ON SUNDAY

Informal Affair To Be Held At Park Field House with Basket Dinner

Plans for a reunion of the class of 1914 of WHS at the Field House in Gardner Park next Sunday today were taking definite form with indications that a good many would come back from their homes away from here.

While the class has succeeded fairly well in getting together every five years, this reunion is something special—the 30th anniversary.

The whole affair is to be informal and it was still doubtful if any kind of program would be arranged. Most of the time is to be spent, it was said by the sponsors, in visiting and renewing old friendships before and after the basket dinner which is to be served at noon.

Although the class set up a loosely knit organization at its last reunion five years ago, the eight members still living here are working together on the plans. They are Mrs. Lydia Williams, Mrs. J. Rankin Paul, Mrs. Earl McLean, Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. Clifford Foster, Mrs. Zoe Garringer, Mrs. Ruth Hanna Hopkins, Miss Minnie Mayo, Frank Thornton and Robert Lanum.

Just how many will be there, probably will not be known until they all sit down for dinner. But it is expected there will be more than the number who received their diplomas that June night, 30 years ago, and went out of the old high school to make their way in the world, because many of the old grads are expected to be accompanied by husbands and wives and families.

Of the high school faculty at the time of graduation, Miss Amy Conn, Mrs. Grant Coffman and O. K. Probasco, who was the school principal then, have attended many of the reunions.

A cloud of grief was cast over the plans for the reunion by the death of Mrs. Coffman Tuesday morning. Miss Conn is visiting in Cleveland now and will not be able to attend. But Mr. Probasco has sent word that he plans to come.

Letters of notification have been sent many of the class members living away from here and several of them already have sent word back they hope to get to the reunion. One of the features of past reunions has been the reading of messages of members unable to attend.

POSITIONS OPEN FOR DEPUTY COLLECTORS

Some Experience Needed for $2,433 a Year Jobs

Zone deputy collectors for service with the Bureau of Internal Revenue are needed immediately in the Sixth U. S. Civil Service region. Howard C. Allen, secretary of the board of U. S. Civil Service examiners, said today.

The salary is $2,433 a year for a 48 hour week. Applicants must have reached their 23rd birthday but not have passed their 60th and be physically capable of performing the duties of the position.

Citing experience requirements, Allen said at least two years of paid experience is required in the performance of bookkeeping, accounting or auditing duties of a responsible nature; or two years

SPARKS IS RECOMMENDED FOR SABINA POSTMASTER

Charles Sparks today has the recommendation of the Clinton County Democratic executive committee for the post of acting postmaster of Sabina's newly-advanced second class Post Office.

Howard Barnes, postmaster for over eight years who resigned effective July 1, will continue to serve until his successor is permanently appointed.

The Sabina Post Office was advanced to a second class office July 1. It was said the rise in rank came from the heavy load of mail from the two Sabina tool factories, now actively engaged in war production.

STATE MEETING WILL BE HELD AT COURT HOUSE

Deputy Sealers and County Auditors To Assemble Here Wednesday

A state meeting of the deputy sealers of weights and measures, as well as county auditors, will be held in the Common Pleas court room here Wednesday, opening at 10 A. M.

Nearly three score deputy sealers and auditors from throughout the state are expected to attend the sessions, and the group will have lunch at the Maddux Restaurant on North Fayette Street.

The sessions will be presided over by Robert W. Seales of Medina County, president of the state organization, and a number of well-known officials probably will be present to take part in the discussions.

Scales representatives will also be here to explain various phases of their respective scales.

State Sealer V. D. Campbell will be here Tuesday to test equipment and help complete arrangements for the meeting on Wednesday.

of responsible experience including one year of experience which required direct personal contact with the public or successful completion of at least two full years of resident school study in an accounting course or in a recognized law school. A written examination also is required. All appointments must comply with WMC regulations.

More information concerning the position may be obtained from Allen, whose office is at the Fayette County Automobile Club, or from D. C. Whelan, director of the Sixth U. S. Civil Service region, Post Office Building, Cincinnati, 2.

SALARIES OF $147,658 PAID TWO EXECUTIVES

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—(AP)—The Hinde and Douch Company of Sandusky, O., paid president and general manager, Sidney Frohman $86,030 during the past fiscal year, the company's annual report to the Securities and Exchange Commission showed today. The firm also paid Vice President James F. Cleary of Kansas City, Mo., $61,628 and Velocity Steam System of Chicago, engineers, $54,170.

$714,288 BOND TOTAL SHOWN BY RESERVE BANK

Deficit Probably Will Not Be Made Up With Rest of July Purchases

Federal Reserve Bank figures show Fayette County credited with $714,288.75 during the Fifth War Loan drive, a figure some $20,000 more than that on record here, F. E. Hill, general chairman of the War Finance Committee here, said today.

Hill expressed doubt that the continued sales of E, F and G bonds throughout the rest of July would make up the $135,711.25 difference between the amount raised and the $950,000 goal.

Fayette County's standing in the Third Ohio Area is seventeenth among 22 in percent of total quota raised, the Federal Reserve Bank in Cleveland said. E bond standings is much lower—20th among the 22 counties—a position represented by $165,656.25 of the $379,000 E bond goal, a little more than 37 percent.

DAVID O. BUCK DIES AT REST HOME HERE

Retired Railroader Veteran of Spanish American War

David O. Buck, 76, died Monday evening at the Carr Rest Home. He had been a patient there for one day. Death is believed to have resulted from injuries sustained in a fall last Saturday.

He had lived at the home of his niece, Mrs. Nina Hakes, 901 East Temple Street. Buck was a retired railroader and a veteran of the Spanish American War. He had lived in Washington C. H. for ten years.

Several nieces and nephews survive, four of whom live here: David and Ernest Tubbs, Mrs. Hakes and Mrs. Madeline Brown.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2:30 P. M. at the Hook Funeral Home. Rev. C. H. Dettly will be in charge of the services.

Burial will be in the family lot of the Bloomingburg Cemetery. Friends may call at the Funeral Home at any time.

CARRIES STORY OF M'COY MURDER

In August Issue of 'Startling Detective'

"Holiday of Hate" is the title of a story on the murder of Elmer McCoy, wife and daughter, at their farm home here last Thanksgiving eve, carried in the August issue of "Startling Detective" magazine.

The story is written by one David Dean and is illustrated with a series of pictures bearing on the crime, one showing the scene, one the body of Elmer McCoy, and others of Miss Mildred McCoy, Mrs. Forrest McCoy, the McCoy home, Prosecutor John B. Hill, Sheriff W. H. Icenhower and one of James W. Collett, who is now awaiting death for the crimes.

The magazine devotes several pages to the story, which is written interestingly, although some of the facts are garbled in the story.

MONDAY PROVES ONE OF HOTTEST DAYS OF SEASON

Shallow Streams of County Receding Rapidly as Drought Continues

Monday was one of the hottest days of the year, with the mercury attaining a high mark of 98 degrees during the afternoon, following a low mark of 65 degrees.

The "fair and cooler" forecast by the weather man failed to materialize, the minimum at 8 A. M. Tuesday being 79 degrees, and the temperature at 7 P. M. Monday was 76 degrees.

As the drought and intense heat continue, still more strength is sapped from parched crops, and the ground is becoming parched.

Conservation Officer Chalmers Burns said Tuesday that he is watching the receding streams in the county, and if no rain comes in another week or 10 days, moving of fish from shallow pools will be started.

So far all streams but Paint Creek through this city, are still flowing, but Sugar Creek and Rattlesnake Creek are very low in some places, and the water is falling rapidly.

BROWN CONFIDENT OF GOP IN OHIO

Congressman Offers To Help With Campaign

Clarence J. Brown, who represents Fayette County in Congress, is ready to spend considerable time campaigning for Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, and Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, his running mate for vice president. And, he is confident the Dewey-Bricker ticket will carry Ohio in the November election.

Thus, Washington C. H. and Fayette County, between Rep. Brown's home town of Blanchester and Gov. Bricker's home in Columbus and birthplace just outside Mt. Sterling, will be in the center of at least one important phase of the forthcoming drive for votes.

Rep. Brown, a member of the Executive Committee of the National Republican Committee, declared "there is no doubt the Dewey-Bricker ticket will carry Ohio," Herbert Brownell, the Republican national chairman, said he told him during a recent conference on campaign plans. Rep. Brown, who was floor manager for Gov. Bricker at the Chicago convention where Gov. Bricker was a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and later accepted the vice presidential candidacy, and Brownell discussed plans for setting up midwestern headquarters in Chicago. It was at this conference, Brownell said, that Rep. Brown offered to spend considerable time in the interest of the GOP campaign.

PVT. JOHN CUMMINS WOUNDED IN ACTION

1943 WHS Graduate Serving In Mediterranean Area

Pvt. John N. Cummins, Jr., son of John Cummins, Sr., 1128 East Rawling Street, was wounded in action in the Mediterranean Area, the War Department announced today.

No details as to when or where he was wounded were released. The 19-year-old soldier has been in the service since July 22, 1943—and was wounded before he had worn a uniform for a full year.

John—called "Jack" by his school mates, graduated from Washington C. H. High School in 1943. For two years, he concentrated on auto mechanics and in his senior year took airplane mechanics.

RILEY BOUND OVER AT CHILLICOTHE

Is Accused of Assaulting Hospital Patient

Harry L. Riley, 51, of Washington C. H., R. 3 was committed to the Columbus city prison in default of $1,000 bond for his appearance before the Federal grand jury on a charge of assaulting an inmate of the Veterans' Hospital at Chillicothe.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation filed the charge after conducting an investigation.

Clarence Mandevors, another attendant at the institution, said he saw Riley assault William Colbert, a mental patient of the present war, three times.

Witnesses said Colbert had sustained injuries which made an operation necessary.

Spit Up Acid Liquids Hours After Eating

For hours after every meal, a Washington C. H. lady used to spit up a strong acidulous liquid. She says it was awful. At times she would nearly strangle.
